To whom it may concern:

I have worked with the staff of Surgical Revenue Solutions (SRS) for several years. I find the staff to be very knowledgeable about coding and billing compared to my previous billing service. SRS is also more efficient partly by having a paperless office. I have also noticed a level of organization that supersedes that of the billing service I used in the past. The appeal letters for the denied surgical claims are well-written and effective. Also they have responded promptly to my requests for customized reports. Overall, I am very happy with their performance with respect to billing and collections. I recommend SRS without reservation to any entity that wants to maximize their reimbursement.

I hope this letter addresses your concerns satisfactorily. If you have any further questions, please contact my office.

Sincerely,

Karim Abdollahi, M.D.
